

I knew something wasn't right.

Every time I had a quiet moment, I asked myself, "Could it be cancer? Or something worse? Or nothing?" The worry alone was seeping into my everyday life.

If it was cancer, how could I afford medical bills? Would I even want to know? I was so scared, and I didn't know where to turn.

Then I heard about the great doctors at NorthShore from a friend, who also lives in Lake County. A NorthShore financial counselor listened to me and told me that NorthShore could help because I live in the community and I don't make a lot of money. Alleluia!

I met with Dr. Elena Moore in Gynecologic Oncology, and I went through a series of tests to figure out what was wrong. Well, I'm so happy to say that I don't have cancer! I can't tell you how relieved I was when Dr. Moore told me I only had a torn hernia, which has since been repaired.

I don't know what I would do without NorthShore. Thank you, neighbors, for helping me when I most needed it.

Barbara
